

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0070]       The present disclosure provides systems and methods for removing an undesired email message. Some embodiments comprise providing detection mechanisms for detecting undesired email messages from an email service of a user. Accordingly, a user interface may be provided to display an identification of an undesired email message in a particular visual manner that is associated with a particular detection mechanism. Other systems and methods are also provided.